More from Football Southampton won't let a fight with Newcastle United see George Boyd sell on Southampton are refusing to let a row with Newcastle about the transfer of George Boyd hurt the clubs relationship. By Declan Curry Last Updated: 22/10/12 7:17pm George Boyd: Southampton can build a successful side with him in it Reports had suggested that Southampton had asked the Magpies to drop the £8m asking price for the Scotland international. However, the club have reacted by insisting that they did not tell Newcastle that they were looking to sign the 22-year-old. It is understood Southampton have been angered by comments made by manager Alan Pardew on Sky Sports after the 3-1 friendly win at St James' Park on Friday. Pardew had attacked Southampton after they paid £2m for Luton midfielder Gareth McAuley, a player he did not rate. He said: "I don't know where they were getting that money from. I said to the board they need to change their approach, and when they do change their approach it's not going to be at the top end of the market. "I don't have any problem with Southampton, but I do have problems with other clubs and their transfer policy, that's all." 3da54e8ca3
