

Sending large files via Internet can prove to be quite a hassle, considering you cannot attach them to email messages if their size is too large, and that some sharing services also restrict the size of the files you upload. However, there are some alternative solutions, such as DropSend Direct Crack. The app installs smoothly on your PC, and will prompt you to create an account or enter your credentials if you have already created one. The interface of the application is user-friendly, and even if you do not have expert PC skills, you can easily upload files to your account or send items via email. When you want to upload files and folders to your online account, you simply need to browse to their location and select one or several items, depending on your necessities, then press the Upload button. When you want to send a file to a chosen email address, you can explore the address book and select the recipients you are looking for. Then you can enter the subject and message, as well as select the documents you want to send. Since most email clients automatically strip an attachment if it is too large, your friends will receive a notification that they have some files waiting for them and they can download them to their PC whenever they choose. DropSend Direct also provides you with access to your online account so you can explore your stored files and share them via email with a single mouse click. All in all, DropSend Direct can help you bypass a lot of restrictions when it comes to sharing very large files with other users, and if you need more storage space you can upgrade to a paid plan and enjoy the app's features for as long as you want. #### What's New in the DropSend Direct?

Send large files on the Internet easily. Benefit from a secure encrypted DropSend service. You needn't be expert with your computer. Upload of files and folders directly. Direct access to your DropSend account. Manage your files and folders. Compatibility: PC / Mac / Android / iOS. Using the DropSend service will ensure that all your files and folders are completely safe and can never be viewed by anyone who is not able to enter your DropSend account, regardless of whether they use the same email address as you, or not. All you need to do to use Dropsend Direct is install the app on your PC, and then you will be presented with a variety of options, including the ability to sign up and create an account to manage your online storage space. Once you have created an account, you will be able to upload files and folders you wish to share with other users who will be able to access them through a DropSend Direct app or website. Anyone will be able to send a file you have shared with them using an email or social media account, or by writing the email address of the recipient, if they have it, on the line below the subject area. While not all emails will be delivered, these can be sent through a number of applications, most notably one of your email accounts. Provided you remember to log into Dropsend Direct with your account credentials on the website or app and have the recipient access their email or social media account, you will know when your files have been received and have the ability to manage them right there and then. Dropsend Direct is a cost-free app, and as part of your DropSend Direct account, you will be given unlimited storage space and access to the features and information you want to keep. However, if you do want to use the app to share files over a larger number of users, you will be given a number of monthly options to select from. The app works on all PC and Mac platforms, and if you upgrade to the "Premium" option on your DropSend Direct account, you will be able to manage up to 20 users at a time. Furthermore, you will be able to manage files and folders with this package, so anyone who logs onto Dropsend Direct with your credentials will be able to send files to other email addresses, as long as the recipient subscribes to the "Premium" package. You can also send files via online services
